

The first part of the paper is a list of names and addresses, which has been written in a very faint and illegible hand. The names appear to be arranged in columns, but they are too light to read.

Below the stamp, the text continues in the same faint, illegible handwriting. The lines of text are closely spaced and run across the width of the page.

At the bottom of the page, there is a signature or a set of initials, which is also difficult to decipher due to the fading. It appears to consist of several large, stylized letters.
