

Handwritten cursive practice on ten horizontal lines. Each line contains a sequence of letters, starting with a series of 'o's and 'e's, followed by 'a's. The letters are written in a fluid, cursive style. The first line shows solid letters, while the subsequent lines show dotted letters for tracing. The practice is organized into groups of six letters per line, with a transition from 'o's and 'e's to 'a's in the middle of each row.
