My dear Sophie. I was greatly grieved to hear that the illness you told me of in summer, had not been a passing one. We are both truly sorry to know your dear Papa to be a sufferer, & sorry for you too to have so much care, & anxiety, & fatigue. I fear to disturb you by calling, & still

I should so much like to see you again that I shall venture on doing so one afternoon soon. Will you give Professor ~~Stewart~~ our kindest remembrances & sincere sympathy.
If you have time, & feel the change would do you good, dear Sophie, come down to us in the evening hours. We are nearly always at home, & would be always happy to welcome you.
With kind regards yours affectionately
Emma Falke
