

The first thing that I noticed when I was standing in the middle of the street and looking at the people who were going by me, I felt as if I had been in a dream. I had never before felt so strange and so alone. I was in the middle of the street and I was looking at the people who were going by me. I felt as if I had been in a dream.

I had never before felt so strange and so alone. I was in the middle of the street and I was looking at the people who were going by me.
I felt as if I had been in a dream. I had never before felt so strange and so alone.

Faint handwritten markings or scribbles in the upper right quadrant.

