

The first of these is the fact that the number of students who have been admitted to the University of Bath has increased steadily since the year 1862, when the first class of students was admitted. This increase has been due to a variety of causes, and it is to be expected that it will continue to increase in the future. One of the principal causes of this increase is the fact that the University of Bath has a reputation for the high quality of its instruction, and for the facilities which it affords for the study of the various branches of knowledge. Another cause is the fact that the University of Bath is situated in a beautiful and healthy locality, which is a great advantage to the students.
 It is also to be noted that the University of Bath has a long and distinguished history, and that it has been the seat of learning for many centuries. This fact, together with the other advantages mentioned above, has no doubt contributed to the success of the University of Bath, and to the increase in the number of its students.
 It is therefore to be expected that the number of students who will be admitted to the University of Bath in the future will continue to increase, and that the University will continue to be one of the most distinguished and successful in the country.

Wm. C. Thompson
 Secy.

University of Bath
 Bath, 22.