

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a library call number or title, spanning across the center of the page. The text is faint and partially obscured by the embossed symbols.

Large, faint embossed letters, possibly 'M W', located at the bottom center of the page. The letters are stylized and appear to be part of a larger embossed design or watermark.