Wien, den 10ten Juny 1790.

Wien, den 10ten Juny 1790.

Handwritten text in German, likely a letter or document. The text is dense and covers the majority of the page. It appears to be a formal or official communication, possibly related to the date in the header. The handwriting is cursive and characteristic of the late 18th century. The text is mostly illegible due to the cursive style and fading, but some words like 'Wien', 'Juny', and '1790' are visible. There are some larger, bolded words or initials scattered throughout, such as 'Wien' and 'Juny'. The text seems to be a letter or a document, possibly a request or a report, given the formal tone and the date. The paper shows signs of age, with some staining and wear, particularly at the bottom edge. The overall appearance is that of an old, handwritten document from the late 18th century.
