Dear Friend:

On August 30, 1944, our operetta "Empress Josephine" was played for the first time in a radio performance, and I have the pleasure of notifying you today that the amount of $82.03, representing your share, will be remitted to you by my New York bankers Brown, Brothers, Harriman & Co., 59 Wall Street, New York 5, NY.

I have to take this opportunity to ask you for another favor. I do not know what happened to my English publishers Joseph Weinberger Ltd., 33 Crawford Street, London. As I probably wrote you, some time ago, I cabled them already twice, asking them to let me have the former as well as the new textbooks of "Czardasfuerstin" which I could both use very well here for my negotiations regarding the planned production of this operetta. I am really worried that they left me without any answer so far, and would be very grateful if you kindly investigated, and in particular could find out what has become of old Uncle Weinberger who is the manager of the London firm.

We are thinking very much of you, dear Friend, and we do hope that the day will not be too far now when we may have the joy of meeting again.

With all good wishes and kind greetings,

Yours very sincerely,

Emmerich Kalman

Dear Sir:

On August 20, 1954, our mutual friend, Herbert Goldhamer, and I had a long conversation in a radio performance, and I have the pleasure of notifying you today that the result of our conversation was that you have been invited to join the staff of the New York Public Library, 415 Park Avenue, New York 17, New York. We are very pleased to have you on our staff and we are sure that you will find the work very interesting.

I have no doubt that you will find the work very interesting and that you will be able to contribute to the work of the New York Public Library in a very important way. We are sure that you will find the work very interesting and that you will be able to contribute to the work of the New York Public Library in a very important way.
